

RUNNERS-UP | GUJARATI DICTIONARY A team of IT professionals from the city tried to address the issue of language barrier faced by online users by introducing an offline Gujarati-English dictionary, which can translate words from and into both languages. The application developed by Keyur Brahmbhatt, Hitesh Chavda and Deval Talati allows users to select a word in other applications like books, websites or SMS, and converts it into another language. It learns the new words once the user goes online.
